Short company profile

American Eagle Outfitters is a leading global specialty retailer of on-trend clothing, accessories, and personal care products. The company operates primarily under its American Eagle and Aerie brands, with smaller brands including Todd Snyder and Unsubscribed. It serves customers in approximately 90 countries through its retail stores and a strong digital presence, which accounts for over a third of its revenue. The company focuses on an omni-channel strategy, integrating its physical stores with its e-commerce platforms, including websites and mobile apps, to provide a seamless customer experience for its target demographic.

Company operations summary

American Eagle Outfitters operates through two primary reportable segments: American Eagle and Aerie. The company's brand portfolio also includes the smaller Todd Snyder and Unsubscribed brands. AEO designs its merchandise, which is then manufactured by third-party suppliers globally. Its logistics and distribution network is extensive, featuring company-owned distribution centers in Kansas and Pennsylvania, a leased Canadian distribution center in Ontario, and multiple leased regional distribution facilities across the US. These regional facilities are utilized by its Quiet Platforms operating segment, which primarily serves as AEO's regionalized fulfillment centers, supporting its omni-channel operations.

Geographic reach

American Eagle Outfitters is a global retailer with a presence in approximately 90 countries through its digital channels. While the report does not provide a detailed breakdown of sales by region, it highlights its international operations and expansion initiatives. The company is exposed to foreign currency exchange rate risk, particularly with the Mexican peso and Canadian dollar, indicating significant operations in those markets.

Sales and marketing summary

The company employs an omni-channel sales strategy, reaching customers through its physical retail stores, which are all leased, and its digital channels. Digital sales are a significant part of the business, representing 37% of total revenue in Fiscal 2024. These digital channels include brand websites (ae.com, aerie.com), mobile apps, and various international online marketplaces. To foster customer loyalty and engagement, AEO runs the "Real Rewards by American Eagle and Aerie" loyalty program. The company also invests in advertising to drive brand awareness and sales.

Financial performance summary

Based on a two-year comparison, American Eagle Outfitters' financial performance showed strong improvement in profitability. In Fiscal 2024, total net revenue grew modestly by 1.3% to $5.33 billion. However, net income experienced a substantial recovery, surging 94% to $329.4 million, reflecting the success of the company's profit improvement initiatives. The revenue growth in Fiscal 2024 to $5.33 billion from $5.26 billion in the prior year was driven by a 4% increase in total comparable sales. This was led by a 5% rise in digital revenue, while store revenue remained flat. By brand, Aerie's net revenue grew by 4% to $1.74 billion, and American Eagle's revenue saw a slight increase to $3.39 billion. The "Other" category, which includes the Quiet Platforms logistics business, saw a planned revenue decrease as the company shifted its strategy to improve profitability. Net income surged to $329.4 million in Fiscal 2024, a 94% increase from $170.0 million in Fiscal 2023. This significant improvement was primarily due to a dramatic reduction in impairment and restructuring charges, which fell from $141.7 million in 2023 to just $17.6 million in 2024. Gross profit increased by 3% to $2.09 billion, with the gross margin expanding by 70 basis points to 39.2%, driven by higher merchandise margins. Operating income nearly doubled to $427.3 million. Additionally, selling, general, and administrative (SG&A) expenses were flat, and depreciation and amortization expense decreased by 6%, further contributing to the bottom-line growth. The effective tax rate also decreased to 25.5% from 29.1%. The company's cash and cash equivalents decreased by $45.1 million during Fiscal 2024. Cash provided by operating activities was $476.8 million, a decrease from $580.7 million in the prior year. Cash used for investing activities was $217.5 million, mainly for capital expenditures of $222.5 million on stores and technology. Financing activities used a significant $301.9 million, a substantial increase from the $109.5 million used in the prior year. This was driven by $190.9 million in common stock repurchases and $96.5 million in dividend payments, reflecting a strong return of capital to shareholders.

Strategy summary

American Eagle Outfitters' strategy, dubbed "Powering Profitable Growth," focuses on brand enhancement and improved financial performance. A key component is a profit improvement program launched in Fiscal 2023, which targets cost structure optimization, leading to gross margin expansion and SG&A leverage. The company continues to invest heavily in its omni-channel and digital capabilities, focusing on mobile technology, digital marketing, and the customer experience to drive its significant digital sales. Strategic priorities also include international expansion through both company-owned stores and licensing agreements. Furthermore, AEO is actively managing its inventory levels and refining its real estate strategy to navigate the challenges of declining shopping center traffic by optimizing its store footprint and driving traffic to both physical and digital channels.

RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

The risk to minority shareholders arising from related party transactions is a function of the nature of the related party, the relative size of the transaction and the pricing of the transaction. The board, and in particular the independent directors or audit committee, play a key role in the protection of minority shareholders' interests, and monitoring and managing potential conflicts of interest of management, board members and shareholders. We note that the following circumstances which suggest elevated risk for independent shareholders:

There are related party transactions with the CEO.

BOARD EFFECTIVENESS

There appears to be director overboarding on this board, with at least one non-executive director sitting on too many boards. MSCI ESG Research considers a non-executive director to be overboarded when they sit on three or more additional boards (i.e. four total boards, including the rated company) in MSCI ESG Research's corporate governance research universe. For CEOs and other executive directors, we have established a limit of two additional boards (i.e. three boards including the rated company). We note that 21% of companies in United States are flagged for overboarded directors.

Notably, one or more of the company's directors have received a negative or withheld shareholder vote in excess of 10% in the company's most recently reported election, indicating shareholder dissatisfaction with that individual's performance as a director.

BOARD SKILLS & DIVERSITY

MSCI ESG Research has flagged the board as potentially entrenched due to a number of long-serving directors. An entrenched board may be detrimental to sustainable shareholder interests during periods of extended underperformance and we do see the potential for such entrenchment at this firm due to a significant number of long-serving directors.While we recognize the benefits of experience, long-tenured directors may form relationships that could compromise their independence and therefore hinder their ability to provide effective oversight. Additional factors, e.g. all board members do not stand for annual re-elections, entrenching takeover defenses and the lack of an independent chairman together with the high number of long-tenured directors, may raise some investors' concerns about the board's ability to provide an effective counterbalance to management. We note that 26% in United States have been flagged for having an entrenched board.

A board with one or more active CEOs and overboarded directors may not be able to provide effective oversight of management. Their other roles may limit the time and attention required to fulfill their fiduciary duties.

(c) Newly Created Directorships and Vacancies. Newly created directorships resulting from any increase in the number of directors and any vacancies on the Board of Directors resulting from death, resignation, disqualification, removal or other cause shall be filled by the affirmative vote of a majority of the remaining directors then in office, even though less than a quorum, or by a sole remaining director. A director, including any director chosen to fill a newly created directorship or any vacancy, shall hold office until the next annual meeting following his election or appointment to the Board of Directors for the class of director to which he is appointed, as applicable, and until such director's successor shall have been elected and qualified. We note that shareholder votes on executive pay are mandatory in this market, affording shareholders the ability to review and approve executive pay practices at this company.

DIRECTOR ELECTIONS

BOARD RE-ELECTION PROVISIONS

Not all board members are subject to annual re-election. While considered by some governance experts as a means of ensuring board continuity, a classified board structure may limit the ability of shareholders to hold directors accountable and serve as a takeover defense. In addition, AMERICAN EAGLE OUTFITTERS has charter and bylaw provisions that may make it difficult for shareholders to achieve control by enlarging the board or removing directors and filling the resulting vacancies. The combined effect of these mechanisms may reduce board accountability to shareholders. Some 40% of boards in the home market are flagged for not requiring directors to stand for re-election on an annual basis.

PROPOSALS TO DECLASSIFY THE BOARD

No recent votes, whether filed by management or by shareholder, seeking the adoption of proxy access have been identified.

DIRECTOR ELECTION STANDARD

The company has not adopted a binding majority director election standard (with immediate resignation if the director does not receive a majority of the votes cast), which may limit shareholders' ability to hold members of the board accountable in uncontested elections.

Director Elections by Majority Vote with Resignation Policy

In an uncontested election, our directors are elected by a majority of votes cast and, if a director does not receive a majority of votes cast, he or she must promptly tender his or her resignation to the Board (with the Board determining whether to accept or reject such resignation, taking into consideration the Nominating Committee's recommendation on whether to accept or reject such resignation).

The Board is divided into three classes, with each such class elected for a three-year term.

DELAWARE

CURRENCY: UNITED STATES DOLLAR (USD)

In the United States, most governance principles are governed by state laws that are not uniform or nationally enforced. However, the majority of states have adopted the Model Business Corporation Act (MBCA) as the basis of their own laws by modifying some of the provisions of the MBCA. The MBCA is a body of laws designed to regulate corporate affairs uniformly across different states. It is the basis for business corporation statutes in 32 states and the District of Columbia and is the source of many provisions in the general corporation statutes of other states. Further, the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) regulates certain governance related matters on a federal level.

The majority of large U.S. businesses are listed on either the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE) or the Nasdaq Stock Market (Nasdaq), and therefore are subject to their listing rules. The U.S. has not adopted a national corporate governance code.

Delaware's corporate governance is defined by the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware (DGCL), with annual updates and revisions by the Delaware legislature based on the recommendations of the Council of the Corporation Law Section of the Delaware State Bar Association. Judicial decisions by the state's Court of Chancery also set governance practice, with appeals heard at the Delaware Supreme Court.

Companies adopt a unitary board structure in the U.S. The NYSE and Nasdaq listing rules require the majority of directors to be independent. The SEC rules require public companies to disclose and explain their chair-CEO structure and whether one or two people hold the roles. If the roles are combined, the company must further disclose whether it has a lead independent director and specify their role within the company leadership.

Unless stated otherwise in the articles of association, directors may appoint inspectors in advance of any shareholder meeting to determine the number of shares outstanding, voting rights, shares represented at the meeting, existence of a quorum, authenticity and validity of proxies, and take all other actions with regards to the annual shareholders' meeting.

Related party transactions (RPTs) are valid if the transaction was conducted on reasonable and fair terms when it was approved, and the RPT is approved in good faith by the majority of independent directors. If the number of independent directors is less than a quorum, then it must be approved by shareholders.

The board of directors may fix director and officer pay, although most companies delegate the responsibility for defining executive pay to independent directors, usually upon the recommendation of the pay or nominating/governance committee. Officers are executive directors that are responsible for the daily management of the company.

The Dodd-Frank Act requires listed companies to hold an advisory vote every three years on "say on pay" policies, as well as disclose additional information regarding "golden parachute" arrangements linked to merger transactions.

Listed companies must annually disclose the pay of directors and officers, including stock and option awards. Disclosure must be made in a tabular format, along with a descriptive summary of the information in the table. Companies listed on Nasdaq must also disclose pay arrangements between directors or nominees and third parties.

The U.S. market is known for having widely dispersed ownership, but founder-led companies are common. There are multiple share classes with unequal voting rights and voting right limits.

Shareholders with at least 10% voting rights can request to convene a general meeting.

A notice of the meeting, specifying the date, time, place and purpose must be given no less than seven days and no more than 60 days in advance. Special meeting of shareholders may be convened by shareholders owning at least 10% of shares. Typically, each share is entitled to one vote and fractional shares are entitled to proportionate votes. Shareholders do not have preemptive rights unless specifically provided in the bylaws or articles. Dissenting shareholders are entitled to appraisal rights.

Unless otherwise stipulated in the articles, a corporation is not obligated to offer shareholders any shares, option rights or securities when issuing them.

There are no mandatory takeover bid provisions in the U.S.

In 2018, the Delaware enacted a Certification of Adoption of Transparency and Sustainability Standards Act which is a voluntary act broadly enabling entities registered in Delaware to craft a sustainability regime. The Act is primarily a disclosure regime which requires entities to disclose and provide reports regarding their standards and metrics. There are many provisions in the Federal Sarbanes-Oxley Act that govern the audit process. A public company's annual financial statements must be audited by a registered independent auditing firm. Listed companies prepare two annual reports, one for SEC (Form 10-K) and one for their shareholders. The reports to stockholders, as required by SEC, must contain certified financial statements of two-year audited balance sheets, and three-year audited statement of income and cash flows. Directors and officers of the corporation must also be identified. Interim financial statements are not audited, only reviewed by the company's auditors. If an auditor has not reviewed the interim report, it must be accompanied with a notice specifying that the report has not been reviewed by an auditor. Audit firm rotation is not required but lead audit partners are subject to rotation every five years.

NONE OF THE INFORMATION PROVIDERS MAKES ANY EXPRESS OR IMPLIED WARRANTIES OR REPRESENTATIONS WITH RESPECT TO THE INFORMATION (OR THE RESULTS TO BE OBTAINED BY THE USE THEREOF), AND TO THE MAXIMUM EXTENT PERMITTED BY APPLICABLE LAW, EACH INFORMATION PROVIDER EXPRESSLY DISCLAIMS ALL IMPLIED WARRANTIES (INCLUDING ANY IMPLIED WARRANTIES OF ORIGINALITY, ACCURACY, TIMELINESS, SUITABILITY, NON-INFRINGEMENT, COMPLETENESS, MERCHANTABILITY AND FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE) WITH RESPECT TO ANY OF THE INFORMATION. Without limiting any of the foregoing and to the maximum extent permitted by applicable law, in no event shall MSCI or any other Information Provider have any liability arising out of or relating to any of the Information, including for any direct, indirect, special, punitive, consequential (including lost profits) or any other damages, even if notified of the possibility of such damages. The foregoing shall not exclude or limit any liability that may not by applicable law be excluded or limited.
- The Information, including index construction, ratings, historical data, or analysis, is not a prediction or guarantee of future performance, and must not be relied upon as such. Past performance is not indicative of future results. The Information may contain back tested data. Back-tested performance based on back-tested data is not actual performance but is hypothetical. There are frequently material differences between back tested performance results and actual results subsequently achieved by any investment strategy. The Information may include "Signals," defined as quantitative attributes or the product of methods or formulas that describe or are derived from calculations using historical data. Signals are inherently backward-looking because of their use of historical data, and they are inherently inaccurate, not intended to predict the future and must not be relied upon as such. The relevance, correlations and accuracy of Signals frequently change materially over time.
- The Information may include data relating to indicative prices, evaluated pricing or other information based on estimates or evaluations (collectively, "Evaluations") that are not current and do not reflect real-time traded prices. No evaluation method, including those used by the Information Providers, may consistently generate evaluations or estimates that correspond to actual "traded" prices of any relevant securities or other assets. Evaluations are subject to change at any time without notice and without any duty to update or inform you, may not reflect prices at which actual transactions or collateral calls may occur or have occurred. The market price of securities, financial instruments, and other assets can be determined only if and when executed in the market. There may be no, or may not have been any, secondary trading market for the relevant securities, financial instruments or other assets. Private capital, equity, credit and other assets and their prices may be assessed infrequently, may not be priced on a secondary market, and shall not be relied upon as an explicit or implicit valuation of a particular instrument. Any reliance on fair value estimates and non-market inputs introduces potential biases and subjectivity. Internal Rate of Return metrics are not fully representative without full disclosure of fund cash flows, assumptions, and time horizons.
- The Information does not constitute, and must not be relied upon as, investment advice, credit ratings, or proxy advisory or voting services. None of the Information Providers, their products or services, are fiduciaries or make any recommendation, endorsement, or approval of any investment decision or asset allocation. Likewise, the Information does not represent an offer to sell, a solicitation to buy, or an endorsement of any security, financial product, instrument, investment vehicle, or trading strategy, whether or not linked to or in any way based on any MSCI index, rating, subcomponent, or other Information (collectively, "Linked Investments").The Information should not be relied on and is not a substitute for the skill, judgment and experience of any user when making investment and other business decisions. MSCI is not responsible for any user's compliance with applicable laws and regulations. All Information is impersonal, not tailored to the needs of any person, entity or group of persons, not objectively verifiable in every respect, and may not be based on information that is important to any user.
- It is not possible to invest in an index. Exposure to an asset class or trading strategy or other category represented by an index is only available through third party investable instruments (if any) based on that index. MSCI makes no assurance that any Linked Investments will accurately track index performance or provide positive investment returns. Index returns do not represent results of actual trading of investible assets/securities. MSCI maintains and calculates indexes but does not manage assets. The calculation of indexes and index returns may deviate from the stated methodology. Index returns do not reflect payment of any sales charges or fees an investor may pay to purchase securities underlying the index or Linked Investments. The imposition of these fees and charges would cause the performance of a Linked Investment to be different than the MSCI index performance.

Last ESG Rating action

Rating action date: May 04, 2026

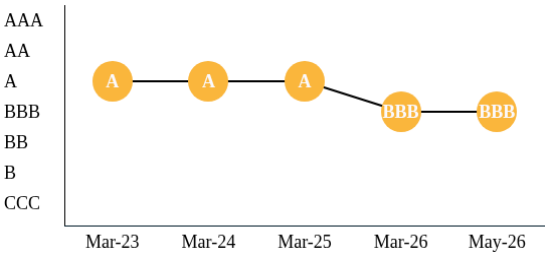

AEO's rating is unchanged at 'BBB'.

Privacy and data security measures lead those of industry peers, with no material controversies or enhancements observed in the current assessment. Labor management practices remain a key focus for AEO, with policies and programs consistent with industry peers per our model. Corporate governance practices continue to lag those of most global peers.

- As an apparel retailer, AEO's operations entail exposure to privacy and data security risks. Its management practices are robust, with strong controls and oversight in place.
- AEO's business ethics practices lead those of most global peers, backed by a detailed anti-corruption policy and board-level oversight. On corporate governance, the company's board remains potentially entrenched: 3 (of 7) directors have served for over 15 years, and 4 are over 70 years of age, as of February 2026. This practice may limit the board's oversight capabilities.
- AEO has high exposure to supply chain labor standards risks. However, its management of these risks lags those of most peers. We found no evidence of a commitment for living wage or grievance mechanisms for supply chain workers. According to our model, AEO trails most industry peers in this area.

BOARD EFFECTIVENESS

There appears to be director overboarding on this board, with at least one non-executive director sitting on too many boards. MSCI ESG Research considers a non-executive director to be overboarded when they sit on three or more additional boards (i.e. four total boards, including the rated company) in MSCI ESG Research's corporate governance research universe. For CEOs and other executive directors, we have established a limit of two additional boards (i.e. three boards including the rated company). We note that 20% of companies in United States are flagged for overboarded directors.

Notably, one or more of the company's directors have received a negative or withheld shareholder vote in excess of 10% in the company's most recently reported election, indicating shareholder dissatisfaction with that individual's performance as a director.

BOARD SKILLS & DIVERSITY

MSCI ESG Research has flagged the board as potentially entrenched due to a number of long-serving directors. An entrenched board may be detrimental to sustainable shareholder interests during periods of extended underperformance and we do see the potential for such entrenchment at this firm due to a significant number of long-serving directors.While we recognize the benefits of experience, long-tenured directors may form relationships that could compromise their independence and therefore hinder their ability to provide effective oversight. Additional factors, e.g. all board members do not stand for annual re-elections, entrenching takeover defenses and the lack of an independent chairman together with the high number of long-tenured directors, may raise some investors' concerns about the board's ability to provide an effective counterbalance to management. We note that 26% in United States have been flagged for having an entrenched board.

A board with one or more active CEOs and overboarded directors may not be able to provide effective oversight of management. Their other roles may limit the time and attention required to fulfill their fiduciary duties.

DIRECTOR ELECTIONS

BOARD RE-ELECTION PROVISIONS

Not all board members are subject to annual re-election. While considered by some governance experts as a means of ensuring board continuity, a classified board structure may limit the ability of shareholders to hold directors accountable and serve as a takeover defense. In addition, AMERICAN EAGLE OUTFITTERS has charter and bylaw provisions that may make it difficult for shareholders to achieve control by enlarging the board or removing directors and filling the resulting vacancies. The combined effect of these mechanisms may reduce board accountability to shareholders. Some 40% of boards in the home market are flagged for not requiring directors to stand for re-election on an annual basis.

DELAWARE

CURRENCY: UNITED STATES DOLLAR (USD)

In the United States, most governance principles are governed by state laws that are not uniform or nationally enforced. However, the majority of states have adopted the Model Business Corporation Act (MBCA) as the basis of their own laws by modifying some of the provisions of the MBCA. The MBCA is a body of laws designed to regulate corporate affairs uniformly across different states. It is the basis for business corporation statutes in 32 states and the District of Columbia and is the source of many provisions in the general corporation statutes of other states. Further, the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) regulates certain governance related matters on a federal level.

The majority of large U.S. businesses are listed on either the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE) or the Nasdaq Stock Market (Nasdaq), and therefore are subject to their listing rules. The U.S. has not adopted a national corporate governance code.

Delaware's corporate governance is defined by the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware (DGCL), with annual updates and revisions by the Delaware legislature based on the recommendations of the Council of the Corporation Law Section of the Delaware State Bar Association. Judicial decisions by the state's Court of Chancery also set governance practice, with appeals heard at the Delaware Supreme Court.

Companies adopt a unitary board structure in the U.S. The NYSE and Nasdaq listing rules require the majority of directors to be independent. The SEC rules require public companies to disclose and explain their chair-CEO structure and whether one or two people hold the roles. If the roles are combined, the company must further disclose whether it has a lead independent director and specify their role within the company leadership.

Unless stated otherwise in the articles of association, directors may appoint inspectors in advance of any shareholder meeting to determine the number of shares outstanding, voting rights, shares represented at the meeting, existence of a quorum, authenticity and validity of proxies, and take all other actions with regards to the annual shareholders' meeting.

Related party transactions (RPTs) are valid if the transaction was conducted on reasonable and fair terms when it was approved, and the RPT is approved in good faith by the majority of independent directors. If the number of independent directors is less than a quorum, then it must be approved by shareholders.

The board of directors may fix director and officer pay, although most companies delegate the responsibility for defining executive pay to independent directors, usually upon the recommendation of the pay or nominating/governance committee. Officers are executive directors that are responsible for the daily management of the company.

The Dodd-Frank Act requires listed companies to hold an advisory vote every three years on "say on pay" policies, as well as disclose additional information regarding "golden parachute" arrangements linked to merger transactions.

Listed companies must annually disclose the pay of directors and officers, including stock and option awards. Disclosure must be made in a tabular format, along with a descriptive summary of the information in the table. Companies listed on Nasdaq must also disclose pay arrangements between directors or nominees and third parties.

The U.S. market is known for having widely dispersed ownership, but founder-led companies are common. There are multiple share classes with unequal voting rights and voting right limits.

Shareholders with at least 10% voting rights can request to convene a general meeting.

A notice of the meeting, specifying the date, time, place and purpose must be given no less than seven days and no more than 60 days in advance. Special meeting of shareholders may be convened by shareholders owning at least 10% of shares. Typically, each share is entitled to one vote and fractional shares are entitled to proportionate votes. Shareholders do not have preemptive rights unless specifically provided in the bylaws or articles. Dissenting shareholders are entitled to appraisal rights.

Unless otherwise stipulated in the articles, a corporation is not obligated to offer shareholders any shares, option rights or securities when issuing them.

There are no mandatory takeover bid provisions in the U.S.

In 2018, the Delaware enacted a Certification of Adoption of Transparency and Sustainability Standards Act which is a voluntary act broadly enabling entities registered in Delaware to craft a sustainability regime. The Act is primarily a disclosure regime which requires entities to disclose and provide reports regarding their standards and metrics. There are many provisions in the Federal Sarbanes-Oxley Act that govern the audit process. A public company's annual financial statements must be audited by a registered independent auditing firm. Listed companies prepare two annual reports, one for SEC (Form 10-K) and one for their shareholders. The reports to stockholders, as required by SEC, must contain certified financial statements of two-year audited balance sheets, and three-year audited statement of income and cash flows. Directors and officers of the corporation must also be identified. Interim financial statements are not audited, only reviewed by the company's auditors. If an auditor has not reviewed the interim report, it must be accompanied with a notice specifying that the report has not been reviewed by an auditor. Audit firm rotation is not required but lead audit partners are subject to rotation every five years.

GLOSSARY

MSCI ESG RATINGS AND SCORES

FINAL ESG RATING

- Letter ratings are relative within each MSCI ESG Ratings industry. Each Final Industry-Adjusted Company Score is converted to an equivalent rating on the AAA-CCC scale.

ESG PILLARS

- the Environment Score represents the weighted average of all Key Issues that fall under the Environment Pillar
- the Social Score represents the weighted average of all Key Issues that fall under the Social Pillar
- the Governance Score represents the sum of score deductions derived from Key Metrics included in Corporate Governance (including Board, Pay, Ownership & Control, and Accounting) and Corporate Behavior (including Business Ethics and Tax Transparency)
- the Environment Weight represents the sum of the weights of all Key Issues that fall under the Environment Pillar
- the Social Weight represents the sum of the weights of all Key Issues that fall under the Social Pillar
- the Governance Weight represents the sum of the weights of Corporate Governance and Corporate Behavior, with a minimum weight set at 33% for all rated issuers

KEY ISSUES

For each industry and Company-Specific Key Issue that contributes to the final rating:

- Weight contribution to the final rating
- Exposure Score (available for companies published since June 2011; excluding Raw Material Sourcing – Environmental)
- Management Score (available for companies published since June 2011; excluding Raw Material Sourcing – Environmental)
- Overall Key Issue Score

WEIGHTED-AVERAGE KEY ISSUE SCORE VS. INDUSTRY RELATIVE SCORE

- the Weighted-Average Key Issue Score is dynamic, reflecting changes in any underlying scores as of the Last Update date, while the Industry Relative Score is more static and corresponds to the Rating Date. Issues that we determine do not present material risks or opportunities to companies in a given industry receive 0% weight and do not impact the overall ESG rating.

SCORES AND CALCULATION OF AVERAGE, PERCENTILE AND RATING DISTRIBUTION

All averages, percentiles, and rating distributions found in the report are based on companies in the relevant MSCI ESG Ratings Industry and are calculated based on industry scores as of the date of publication of this report.

ESTIMATED CARBON EMISSIONS

Carbon estimates are based on carbon intensity (carbon emissions/sales). The Estimate Key represents the source of the estimated carbon emissions data. E.CSI represents Company-Specific Intensity estimates based on previously disclosed data. E.GICSSI represents estimates based on the GICS Sub-Industry average. For E.GICSSI we set five levels of confidence (High, Moderately High, Moderate, Moderately Low, and Low). The Carbon Estimation Methodology document, available on ESG Manager, describes the estimation model in greater detail.

- The intellectual property rights of MSCI and its Information Providers may not be misappropriated or used in a competitive manner through the use of third-party data or financial products linked to the Information, including by using an MSCI index-linked future or option in a competing third-party index to provide an exposure to the underlying MSCI index or by using an MSCI index-linked ETF to create a financial product that provides an exposure to the underlying MSCI index without obtaining a license from MSCI.
- The user or recipient of the Information assumes the entire risk of any use it may make, permit or cause to be made of the Information. NONE OF THE INFORMATION PROVIDERS MAKES ANY EXPRESS OR IMPLIED WARRANTIES OR REPRESENTATIONS WITH RESPECT TO THE INFORMATION (OR THE RESULTS TO BE OBTAINED BY THE USE THEREOF), AND TO THE MAXIMUM EXTENT PERMITTED BY APPLICABLE LAW, EACH INFORMATION PROVIDER EXPRESSLY DISCLAIMS ALL IMPLIED WARRANTIES (INCLUDING ANY IMPLIED WARRANTIES OF ORIGINALITY, ACCURACY, TIMELINESS, SUITABILITY, NON-INFRINGEMENT, COMPLETENESS, MERCHANTABILITY AND FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE) WITH RESPECT TO ANY OF THE INFORMATION. Without limiting any of the foregoing and to the maximum extent permitted by applicable law, in no event shall MSCI or any other Information Provider have any liability arising out of or relating to any of the Information, including for any direct, indirect, special, punitive, consequential (including lost profits) or any other damages, even if notified of the possibility of such damages. The foregoing shall not exclude or limit any liability that may not by applicable law be excluded or limited.
- The Information, including index construction, ratings, historical data, or analysis, is not a prediction or guarantee of future performance, and must not be relied upon as such. Past performance is not indicative of future results. The Information may contain back tested data. Back-tested performance based on back-tested data is not actual performance but is hypothetical. There are frequently material differences between back tested performance results and actual results subsequently achieved by any investment strategy. The Information may include "Signals," defined as quantitative attributes or the product of methods or formulas that describe or are derived from calculations using historical data. Signals are inherently backward-looking because of their use of historical data, and they are inherently inaccurate, not intended to predict the future and must not be relied upon as such. The relevance, correlations and accuracy of Signals frequently change materially over time.
- The Information may include data relating to indicative prices, evaluated pricing or other information based on estimates or evaluations (collectively, "Evaluations") that are not current and do not reflect real-time traded prices. No evaluation method, including those used by the Information Providers, may consistently generate evaluations or estimates that correspond to actual "traded" prices of any relevant securities or other assets. Evaluations are subject to change at any time without notice and without any duty to update or inform you, may not reflect prices at which actual transactions or collateral calls may occur or have occurred. The market price of securities, financial instruments, and other assets can be determined only if and when executed in the market. There may be no, or may not have been any, secondary trading market for the relevant securities, financial instruments or other assets. Private capital, equity, credit and other assets and their prices may be assessed infrequently, may not be priced on a secondary market, and shall not be relied upon as an explicit or implicit valuation of a particular instrument. Any reliance on fair value estimates and non-market inputs introduces potential biases and subjectivity. Internal Rate of Return metrics are not fully representative without full disclosure of fund cash flows, assumptions, and time horizons.
- The Information does not constitute, and must not be relied upon as, investment advice, credit ratings, or proxy advisory or voting services. None of the Information Providers, their products or services, are fiduciaries or make any recommendation, endorsement, or approval of any investment decision or asset allocation. Likewise, the Information does not represent an offer to sell, a solicitation to buy, or an endorsement of any security, financial product, instrument, investment vehicle, or trading strategy, whether or not linked to or in any way based on any MSCI index, rating, subcomponent, or other Information (collectively, "Linked Investments").The Information should not be relied on and is not a substitute for the skill, judgment and experience of any user when making investment and other business decisions. MSCI is not responsible for any user's compliance with applicable laws and regulations. All Information is impersonal, not tailored to the needs of any person, entity or group of persons, not objectively verifiable in every respect, and may not be based on information that is important to any user.
- It is not possible to invest in an index. Exposure to an asset class or trading strategy or other category represented by an index is only available through third party investable instruments (if any) based on that index. MSCI makes no assurance that any Linked Investments will accurately track index performance or provide positive investment returns. Index returns do not represent results of actual trading of investible assets/securities. MSCI maintains and calculates indexes but does not manage assets. The calculation of indexes and index returns may deviate from the stated methodology. Index returns do not reflect payment of any sales charges or fees an investor may pay to purchase securities underlying the index or Linked Investments. The imposition of these fees and charges would cause the performance of a Linked Investment to be different than the MSCI index performance.

MSCI sustainability and climate offerings, research and data are produced by, and ratings are solely the opinion of MSCI Solutions. Floor And Decor, American Eagle, Zumiez, Arhaus, and Petco shares are soaring, what you need to know
11/04/2026

What happened?

A number of stocks jumped in the afternoon session after Booking's better-than-expected results, and a Wayfair sales gain, lifted consumer retail stocks across apparel, home, discount, and grocery. Wayfair gave the home names a closer link. Sales rose 9.7% to $3.42 billion, above the $3.38 billion estimate from analysts, and adjusted earnings were 93 cents versus a 79-cent estimate, CNBC reported. Floor & Decor, Lowe's, and Home Depot sell into that same budget, and Dollar Tree and Grocery Outlet rose too, so the bid was wider than furniture. Contributing to the optimism, Democratic midterm election victories helped reduce market unpredictability for investors, the Financial Times reported. Analysts observed that the decisive midterm results removed key political uncertainties that had previously weighed on investor sentiment across major sectors, encouraging broader market participation and fueling sustained buying momentum throughout the trading session.
The stock market overreacts to news, and big price drops can present good opportunities to buy high-quality stocks.

Among others, the following stocks were impacted:

* Home improvement retailer company Floor And Decor (NYSE:FND) jumped 10.5%. Is now the time to buy Floor And Decor? Access our full analysis report here, it’s free.

* Apparel retailer company American Eagle (NYSE:AEO) jumped 7.8%. Is now the time to buy American Eagle? Access our full analysis report here, it’s free.

* Apparel retailer company Zumiez (NASDAQ:ZUMZ) jumped 8.1%. Is now the time to buy Zumiez? Access our full analysis report here, it’s free.

* Home furniture retailer company Arhaus (NASDAQ:ARHS) jumped 9.2%. Is now the time to buy Arhaus? Access our full analysis report here, it’s free.

* Specialty retail company Petco (NASDAQ:WOOF) jumped 13.1%. Is now the time to buy Petco? Access our full analysis report here, it’s free.

Zooming in on Petco (WOOF)

Petco’s shares are very volatile and have had 25 moves greater than 5% over the last year. But moves this big are rare even for Petco and indicate this news significantly impacted the market’s perception of the business.

The biggest move we wrote about over the last year was 8 months ago when the stock gained 29% on the news that the company reported fourth-quarter results that, despite a slight sales dip, showed better-than-expected profitability and a strong financial forecast for the upcoming year. Although fourth-quarter sales fell 2.4% year over year to $1.52 billion and the company posted a loss of $0.01 per share, investors focused on the positives. Adjusted EBITDA, a measure of profitability, reached $106.3 million for the quarter, beating analyst estimates. The main driver for the stock's rise was its optimistic outlook for the 2026 financial year. The company projected adjusted EBITDA to be $422.5 million at the midpoint, which was higher than market forecasts. This strong profit guidance suggested to investors that Petco's cost management and strategic initiatives are beginning to pay off.

Petco is up 8.8% since the beginning of the year, but at $3.10 per share, it is still trading 14.4% below its 52-week high of $3.62 from March 2026. Despite the year-to-date gain, investors who bought $1,000 worth of Petco’s shares 5 years ago would now be looking at only $120.90.

Is the Magnificent Mile's long-awaited revival here?
10/24/2026

Chicago's top shopping destination is experiencing a long-promised renaissance, following a tumultuous decade of store closures, empty storefronts and little foot traffic.The mile-long stretch of North Michigan Avenue known as the Magnificent Mile is seeing a flurry of new store openings such as Uniqlo and the Hello Kitty Cafe, while at least five retailers have announced plans to open locations in the coming months.“I think we are getting ready to go to our prom," Magnificent Mile Association President Kimberly Bares said.
“We're on the cusp of some of the best years that Michigan Avenue has seen."A number of leasing deals coupled with more than $250 million in capital investments by landlords and retailer confidence pushed North Michigan Avenue's retail vacancy down to 25.8% from 33.8% in 2025, according to October data from Chicago-based brokerage firm Kirsch Agency.This year, American Eagle Outfitters said its returning to the Mag Mile next summer with a 14,182-square-foot flagship at 600 N. Michigan Ave. Last month, active wear brand Lululemon signed a deal to add another store at the base of the Tribune Tower, 435 N. Michigan, where they'll join incoming tenants Big City Optical and Intuit TurboTax. And the 60,000-square-foot will also open summer 2027 at 830 N. Michigan, spotlighting candy brands, innovators and confectionery history, as well as a store.Garage, a trendy Canadian fast fashion brand, plans to open this fall at 625 N. Michigan, according to the Magnificent Mile Association. Fellow Gen Z brand Edikted is also close to finalizing a deal on the Mag Mile, according to brokers with knowledge of the deal.

Meanwhile, some of the street's existing retailers have been rethinking their spaces, angling for new positions. Levi Strauss signed a lease this year to relocate into a 9,000-square-foot store, 663 N. Michigan, larger than its nearby 5,555-square-foot space at 600 N. Michigan. Nike will downsize from its 57,000-square-foot flagship into a two-level 43,000-square-foot space at the Shops at North Bridge.The Shops at North Bridge announced in August a $40 million renovation for the mall's interior and exterior to be completed by next year, with hopes to entice experiential retailers. It follows the $170 million redevelopment plan at Water Tower Place, announced in April, that would transform the struggling mall's lower floors and bring in women's specialty stores, apparel and beauty brands, and experiential concepts.“We're watching a very, very fast recovery," said Greg Kirsch, managing broker of Kirsch Agency. “It's not that the rents are low. It's that the sales performance is high because when they were really at their lowest, there was still no deal activity."

From closings to openingsFormer Mayor Rahm Emanuel's record $500 million property tax increase in 2015 impacted retailers' desire to move into prime real estate in the city because the hikes would be passed on to tenants, Kirsch said.The Mag Mile's retail vacancy rate was a low 3.6% in 2016, but by 2018, it jumped to 12%, according to Kirsch Agency data.“I think people forget that even before the pandemic, Michigan Avenue — because of its reliance on in-person shopping — was experiencing competition from online retailers," Bares said.By 2019, major retailers like Forever 21, Crate & Barrel, Best Buy, Apple and Topshop shuttered their expansive Mag Mile stores. And the following year, the pandemic brought looting and an increase in violent crime that lingered for years.

“One of the things that's very important in retail is that the customers feel comfortable in the environment, and when people don't feel comfortable shopping, they feel nervous or threatened or unsafe," Kirsch said.He said the "biggest blow" was when Macy's closed its Water Tower Place store in 2021. The department store had been there for 45 years and accounted for 20% of the mall's 818,000 square feet.Other retailers followed. In 2021, Gap closed its three-level flagship, along with Express and Uniqlo, and in 2023, a gaggle of wireless carriers, like Verizon and T-Mobile, closed their flagship locations.But signs of a recovery kicked off in 2024 when women's retailer Aritzia opened its store at 555 N. Michigan, taking over Gap's old space. When the Canadian company had announced in 2022 its plan for a 46,000-square-foot store, it was the largest lease on the Mag Mile in a decade and a turning point for the corridor, Bares said.And with yoga brand Alo's first Chicago store, 717 N. Michigan, already open by 2023, it seemingly re-energized interest among other retailers.“Word got out that [Aritzia and Alo] were performing above expectation," Kirsch said. “More retailers paid attention to the avenue. The more that they learned, the more they wanted to be a part of it."Retailers that left the Mag Mile, like Uniqlo, returned. Others, such as The North Face, relocated and often downsized, looking for a more desirable place on the street. And international brands, including Intimissimi, Mango, Falconeri and Charles Tyrwhitt, soon joined the bunch.Italian cashmere label Falconeri said the Mag Mile was an ideal choice because it's “one of the premier luxury shopping destinations" in the country, said Gianni Forlini, chief business officer of Oniverse U.S., which owns Falconeri and Intimissimi.

“Michigan Avenue provides the visibility, prestige and customer base needed to introduce our timeless Italian cashmere and natural fiber collections to a broader audience," he said in an email.The store, which opened this summer, has been meeting the brand's expectations, reinforcing its confidence in the city, Forlini said.The corridor once full of legacy brands, like Banana Republic, Columbia Sportswear and Express, is now occupied by retailers popular with younger generations.And it's also home to experiences like the Harry Potter Shop at 676 N. Michigan and the interactive gaming experience The Cube, 600 N. Michigan, as well as other concepts nearby such as The Hand & the Eye magic theater, 100 E. Ontario St. — giving consumers an experience similar to malls.“I want to say there's been six or seven really sizable deals, like massive deals," Kirsch said. “Lululemon and Nike and the Candy Hall of Fame. Normally, a market like Michigan Avenue would get one of those per year, and we got three of them in 2026."The influx of new retailers has been satisfying for the real estate industry and the Magnificent Mile Association, after years of headlines about a downtrodden Michigan Avenue.“People are waking up to great retail and leasing news," Bares said. “But these deals have been years in the making, and that's part of the story that Michigan Avenue has been rebounding for the last, at least, two years."

Developers look to capitalize on Charlotte's tight industrial market with 3M square feet in works
10/16/2026

The Charlotte region is down to one available big-box industrial space after seven consecutive quarters of positive absorption have pushed vacancy down to 4.2% in the sector.

Developers have taken notice and are readying to seize the opportunity, anticipating demand will continue for manufacturing, warehouse and distribution spaces over 500,000 square feet.
Charlotte's bulk industrial market is extremely tight compared to other major markets, says Chuck McShane, senior director of market analytics for CoStar. Only Washington, D.C., and northern New Jersey have tighter big-box availability, he said. The one space still vacant here, the 876,587-square-foot building at 1500 Delta Drive in Gastonia, was completed in 2023 and recently acquired by national industrial real estate giant Link Logistics.

Developers across the region are now in various stages of planning for up to 3 million square feet of big-box development.

"The current lay of the land is not going to exist forever," said Ryan Beadle, vice president of development at Dallas-based Jackson-Shaw. "So, if a bunch of people get the same idea and start building similar, large buildings that all deliver at once, that could be problematic. If you get the project done or started quickly, you become one of the few and not one of many."

Jackson-Shaw, a national development firm that has been active in North Carolina, is planning a speculative, 504,000-square-foot project in Rowan County at Landis Ridge. It could break ground as soon as January, Beadle said. This will be the second phase of Landis Ridge.

Beadle estimates it would take between 10 months and a year to complete. Jackson-Shaw plans to lease it to a single tenant.

Florida-based McCraney Property Co. plans to begin construction on its big-box project in Rock Hill in the next two weeks, said President and CEO Steven McCraney.

The 1 million-square-foot project, called Firetower Logistics @ 77, is at Interstate 77 and Firetower Road. McCraney expects to deliver the building in September 2027.

Other major industrial buildings in the works:

* Edgewater Ventures has begun grading for a 513,000-square-foot facility in Monroe, according to Chris Norvell, the firm's lead industrial partner. The Raleigh firm plans to make a decision before the end of the year on a start date for vertical construction of the speculative building.

* Atlanta-based Rooker has started work on a Salisbury site, Rowan County records show. Concept plans for the site show it will have either a 513,000-square-foot building or a 930,000-square-foot one.

* New York-based Hudson Capital Properties is putting the finishing touches on grading for a 750,000 to 1 million-square-foot building at the Overlook 85 at Kannapolis Crossing industrial park in Kannapolis. It is open to build-to-suit options and considering speculative opportunities on that pad, Warren Snowdon of Foundry Commercial, a listing broker for the industrial park, told CBJ.

The Keith Corp. also sees opportunity in big-box development but is taking a different approach to position itself to capitalize on the market's lack of availability, said the company's Matt Giannuzzi. The Charlotte developer is readying one site on the northern end of the region and one on the southern end along Interstate 77 for build-to-suit users.

Keith Corp. bought 934 acres — the remaining undeveloped land at Larkin Regional Commerce Park in Statesville — from Greenfield Partners for $20 million in late May. The park now has full infrastructure, and its first phase is entitled for a building of 1 million to 2 million square feet. Keith Corp. already has a grading permit for that building.

A grading permit for a 1 million-square-foot development in Rock Hill's Legacy Park East is also in the works.

Keith Corp. is focused on build-to-suit options in both locations and has primed the sites so construction can start quickly when a tenant signs on. Giannuzzi said the plan follows the firm's traditional strategy for big-box development and that activity is strong in the segment.

Keith Corp. was pursuing an economic development project at Larkin as of Aug. 13, Alan Lewis, the firm's managing partner for industrial development, said at a Troutman Town Council meeting. He said the project would bring hundreds of jobs to Iredell County.

"We are very far down the road (with the user) and working toward a commitment," Lewis said.

Keith Corp. is still pursuing that project, Giannuzzi said. The project would require a building of more than 1 million square feet, he added.

The build-to-suit approach positions Keith Corp. well to capture demand for big-box space from manufacturers, said Austin Rouse, the Economic Development Partnership of North Carolina's director of business recruitment. Manufacturers have more specific requirements for a building than logistics users, he said.

The Charlotte region has seen 4% growth in manufacturing jobs since 2020 and has 25% more manufacturing jobs than the national average, Charlotte Regional Business Alliance data show.

Jackson-Shaw is confident in a speculative approach because it gives the company an upper hand in attracting users prioritizing speed to market, Beadle said. The first phase of Landis Ridge garnered interest from users in the 500,000-square-foot range, but they all needed to move in quicker than Jackson-Shaw could deliver the park's second phase.

That interest, coupled with other recent activity in Rowan County near the same range, validated Jackson-Shaw's decision to move forward with a speculative building. Beadle cited American Eagle taking 473,000 square feet in Salisbury and Google taking 730,000 square feet in China Grove as examples.

Fermin Deoca and Matt Treble of Cushman & Wakefield, the listing brokers for Firetower Logistics @ 77 and Edgewater's Monroe project, agreed that availability is key to landing logistics tenants. Big-box users in their experience will pass on Charlotte for Spartanburg and Greenville, South Carolina, or Atlanta when this region doesn't have speculative product available.

They said that hasn't been an issue since before Covid, but they worry it could become a problem with just one space left on the market. There have been no big-box industrial spaces delivered as a strong run of leases eliminated inventory from the market.

Absorption over the past two years was headlined by:

* Walmart purchasing a vacant, 1.3 million-square-foot building in Kings Mountain

* Momentec Brands leasing 755,928 square feet in Kannapolis

* Carolina Beverage taking 723,000 square feet in Mooresville

* Google leasing a 730,000-square-foot building in China Grove

* Prime Beverage leasing the entirety of the 933,000-square-foot, former Stanley Black & Decker building in Kannapolis

CBRE's Anne Johnson attributed the slowdown in new deliveries, particularly those above 750,000 square feet, to an oversupply in Greenville.

She said big-box users often consider the Upstate South Carolina city when looking in Charlotte. While Greenville had up to 10 big-box spaces available, that discouraged developers from building here.

Giannuzzi said higher interest rates and a decline in availability of large, uncomplicated sites also impact new development.

The federal funds effective rate was 0.08% when new big-box development in Charlotte peaked in the first quarter of 2021, Federal Reserve Economic Data show. It was in the low 5% range when development stopped in the third quarter of 2023.

Hesitancy from institutional investors in response to slower absorption of big-box industrial buildings also played a role, Giannuzzi said. It took The Keith Corp. about two years to sell its speculative, 1.3 million-square-foot development in Kings Mountain.

"It's kind of a chicken-and-egg thing," Jackson-Shaw's Beadle said. "Has it been less demand drivers, less users in the market looking for that space? Or is it that there hasn't been as much lease activity just because the space isn't available for people to take down?"

Deoca and Treble believe current demand justifies new projects. They said the Charlotte region's population growth, labor force and connectivity along interstates 77 and 85 will continue to drive demand for big-box industrial space in the region.

Deoca and Treble have already seen activity, including site visits and inquiries, around Firetower Logistics @ 77. Johnson and Alek Salfia of CBRE, two of the listing brokers for 1500 Delta Drive, said they've been receiving considerable interest on that building.

McShane added that Charlotte's increasing prevalence as an alternative to Atlanta for a Southeast distribution hub will drive demand for big-box industrial space to Charlotte. An uptick in advanced manufacturing will contribute, too, he said.

Rouse said he's seen demand for these products at the state level. He pointed to the Economic Development Partnership of North Carolina's 2025 real estate report as evidence.

The partnership assisted with six manufacturing real estate requests for spaces greater than 500,000 square feet, the report shows. Rouse emphasized that those numbers only reflect a portion of market activity because EDPNC isn't involved in every industrial user's site selection search in North Carolina.

Rouse noted there's been activity around existing big-box buildings across the state, indicating demand.

"I think some people mistake (big-box property owners) not having moved forward (with a user) with a lack of activity around those buildings," he said. "There's been a lot of activity at those buildings, so that's why I say with confidence that I feel like there's demand for that type of product."
